Biblical Mutual Fund LIONX Outperformed During Market Crash

The biblically responsible Issachar Fund (ticker: LIONX) helped provide investors some relief from the brunt of the recent market selloff by actively managing risk.

Lafayette, Louisiana, April 7th, 2020–

The biblically responsible Issachar Fund (ticker: LIONX) helped steer its investors away from steep losses during the recent stock market crash through the experienced active management of the fund's manager, Dexter Lyons.

During the first quarter of 2020, the S&P 500 fell sharply with a -19.60% loss, bringing the eleven-year long bull market to an end. During that same time-period, LIONX posted a positive return of 1.34%, outperforming the S&P 500 by 20.94% and helped investors sidestep deep losses in the broader market.

LIONX also bested by 8.62% its primary benchmark the IQ Hedge Multi-Strategy Index, which delivered -7.28% losses in Q1 2020. Over longer timeframes, LIONX has also performed favorably relative to its primary benchmark, beating out the IQ Hedge Multi-Strategy Index on 1 year, 5 year and since inception (2/28/2014) basis, though it has lagged the S&P 500 on 5 year and since inception timeframes.

The Issachar Fund's performance has earned it a 4-star rating from Morningstar.com over both a three-year and five-year period. Morningstar ratings are based on risk-adjusted returns net-of-fees compared to 221 funds in the Tactical Allocation category over three years and 173 funds in the Tactical Allocation category over five years as of April 8th, 2020.

Dexter Lyons, portfolio manager of LIONX had this to say, "As a Portfolio Manager, I try to focus on getting base hits when market opportunities present themselves, instead of swinging for the fences at the risk of striking out. ABOUT THE ISSACHAR FUND (TICKER: LIONX)

The Issachar Fund (LIONX) seeks to provide investors with the liquidity, convenience, and ease of access of a mutual fund, combined with the institutional risk management qualities of a hedge fund. LIONX is a diversified, tactically managed mutual fund that seeks to provide moderate capital appreciation consistent with capital preservation in an attempt to limit life-altering market declines. Lyons describes how he developed his approach to active risk management of investment portfolios, “While working as a diesel mechanic in the late ’80s, I lost over half of my savings during a two-week period to a stockbroker with an apparent conflict of interest. It was at that moment I decided that I would make every attempt to avoid this happening to me again. I studied the stock market and technology extensively in college and tried to figure out how I lost so much money in such a short period of time. My thinking at the time was, if I lost it, then that meant someone found it. That really intrigued me.

I have used sophisticated models and systems through the years and have come to one basic conclusion. Computer models and systems work until they don’t, and no one rings a bell to tell you when the model quits working. Nothing can replace the grace, wisdom and common sense that God freely gives us. I want to share my 30 plus years of hard work and lessons learned with the shareholders of the Issachar Fund.”

Mutual Funds involve risks including the possible loss of principal. An investment in the Fund may not be appropriate for all investors. The Fund may hold cash positions when the Adviser feels that the market is not producing returns greater than the short-term cash investments in which the Fund may invest. There is a risk that the sections of the market in which the Fund invests will begin to rise or fall rapidly and the Fund will not be able to sell stocks quickly enough to avoid losses or reinvest its cash positions into areas of the advancing market quickly enough to capture the initial returns of changing market conditions. If the Fund uses hedging instruments at the wrong time or judges market conditions incorrectly, the hedge might be unsuccessful, reduce the Fund's investment return, or create a loss. The Adviser's judgment about the attractiveness, value and potential appreciation of particular asset classes and securities in which the Fund invests may prove to be incorrect and may not produce the desired results.

The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity, and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. 3441-NLD-4/9/2020
